The Elite

by Theresa471

Category: Castle
Genre: Adventure, Crime
Language: English
Status: In-Progress
Published: 2016-04-19 15:54:24
Updated: 2016-04-26 20:06:59
Packaged: 2016-04-27 15:05:37
Rating: T
Chapters: 7
Words: 4,889
Publisher: www.fanfiction.net
Summary: Continued series from On The Run, Castle and Hunt are asked to join in on a meeting in Chicago, the very same group having recruited Castle and Henry Jenkins during his missing two months.

1. Chapter 1

The Elite

It's been a two months now, since Jackson Hunt and Joan Biaz have been on the road. During their travels before reaching finally Washington D.C.. Hunt was contacted by a under ground Ops Unit called "The Elite", men and women trained in gorilla warfare in fighting any type of enemy on the planet Earth.

Over the years both Hunt and Baiz had heard through the grapevine about this secret organization. From what they understood, their were thousands of men and woman involved.

He and Joan were asked to attend a special meeting in the city of Chicago. A Captain Jack Wilson invited them both to come to the fifth battalion armory on Elm Street down town Chicago at Six o' clock at night.

/

Time Backwards Two days

Jackson Hunt and Joan were shopping at one of the local shopping centers in Chicago, having to stop off into the state for a few weeks. The past few months have been very quiet for the both of them, even though, he's been keeping in contact with Joshua and his friends at the District Warehouse in California, along with his son Richard Castle.

What he didn't know was for the fact his son was part of that special group for a few months before coming back home, along with the fact that Brad Pierson never bothered to tell him this in the first place, during the time we went missing.

Hunt was inside the elevator heading for their vehicle after finishing up shopping for the few hours they were there. When he heard his cell phone go off, he had Joan take it out of his coat jacket, while carrying the packages. Joan hands the phone, while he has her take them out of his other hand.

"Jackson Hunt speaking, who is this that I am speaking to?" He looks at Joan with a strange expression on his face.

"Agent Hunt, I know your on the run now, I am Captain Jack Wilson of the group called "Elite", I don't know, if you have every heard of us, but I would like to invite you and your female friend to join us for a special meeting of our group, to show you how we deal with threats against the United States and around the globe including Iraq and Afghanistan.

"Captain Wilson, I have heard of your unit from over the years, your group doesn't get much press, from what I understand, why would you want us to meet with you, being that I am ex C.I.A.?" While stepping out of the elevator with Joan following behind.

"We need your special talents and Joan's to work on a couple of our missions, including getting into the White House to take down Senator Noah Hathaway, I understand it was you that orchestrated having vice President James Emery killed because of his involvement with Loksat, along with Congressman James O' Rourke."

"That is true, the only one I did kill myself was Loksat, a real bastard in my eyes from over the years, and I hope to never meet up with anyone like him again."

"We do have one like him Mr. Hunt, he's, Noah Hathaway, and we need to get to the man to be rid of him for good, he has a long history of murders behind him, I just hope, you and your friend will be able to give us a few pointers on how actually to get inside the White House."

"Just tell when, where and what time, we will be their to meet your special group."

"Excellent, I will let everyone know, my group is schedule to go on maneuvers in one hour, I need to be ready for the outing, it's going to be interesting, see you in a few days." He says before ending the call on his end.

Hunt looks at Joan not believing his stroke of luck. "I must say, we are very lucky, it's going to be our ticket to go to Washington, D.C. to see this Noah Hathaway, and we won't have to lift a finger."

"I don't understand, we are only invited for the meeting to meet with the rest of his team, how would it benefit the both of us with this "Elite" organization, when in fact, we don't know all that much about the group in the first place?"

"Thank about it Joan, it's going to be our chance to take out Senator Hathaway, and get ourselves involved with a new group, instead of the C.I.A., and besides, it will make life much more simple in the long run." He replied tersely with moving over to kiss her quickly.

While she was heavenly engrossed in his body and then some.

2. Chapter 2

Chapter Two The Elite

Captain Jack Wilson and three 25 team members, were all geared up to head out into the forest for maneuvers. The idea was to see who can survive the quickest to get through the training course, using live ammo at each of the check points.

Sergeant Jeffries Rourke ordered everyone to start moving out with the sun setting, it's going to be dark soon, with the forecast of a partial moon out this evening, along with a possible thunder and lightening storm.

Each of his team members had full gear, helmet, rifle, flashlight and most important making sure their faces were covered with the black tar to hide their faces from the enemy.

"All right everyone, saddle up to get moving, remember you have only four hours to finish the course, or else you will be kicked off the team."

He could see that everyone were shaking their heads on this one for when it comes to the overall training. Sergeant Rourke has been part of the team the last ten years, age 51 years old, single with no ties to leave behind.

Besides Captain Wilson and Rourke, the next in line with authority was Lt. Maddie Jennings, one of three women currently on the team, age 31, single with one sister Janie in the Navy Seals. Lt. Jennings was the first to leave off into the forest, she had been with the team the past three years, having left the Navy Seals, when she was contacted by Captain Wilson to join with her abilities, for when it comes to mountain climbing, swimming and sharp shooting.

Captain Jack Wilson stayed behind the group to keep tabs of the group, hopefully everyone will make it including Maddie. Both Maddie and himself have been dating for the last four months, and he's taken a great liking to Maddie despite their age differences.

He was rather impressed with the fact, she was the first to leave off first into the forest.

/

Sometime later...

Maddie and several others had by passed several of the check points without having a shot been fired, however a storm was starting to brew coming up from the west.

It's a good thing for her, she was carrying her gear for bad weather, and a shovel to dig a hole to hide from the possible lightening storm, when she first saw the crackle of the first of lightening strike hit across the trees a few miles up ahead.

It was her clue to take out her shovel right now, she started to move with the digging quickly, until it was big enough for her to settle in for now, until the worst was over. Once inside, she tried calling Captain Wilson using her personal code on the walkie talkie. "Jack, this is Maddie, can you hear me, the lightening storm is getting bad right now, I have dug myself a hole right now?" At first there was static, until Captain Wilson was able to understand her message.

"Maddie, this is Jack, I caution you to not move any further until the storm is over, understand, I have advise the others I was able to make contact to stand pat?"

"Understand, will follow your orders to the letter Captain, will make contact later, once storm is completely over, bye and out!"

She exactly did what was told of her without having to panic in the first place, unlike three of her other associates having given up with turning around to go back out of the forest and be kicked off the group.

It was 30 minutes later, when the storm finally ended, it was her chance to finally start moving once again, along with the others in the forest. She was able to check her personnel map of the design of the course that was first mapped out, along with the shooting targets.

She knew exactly where to move on her belly despite the wetness of the ground to bypass the target, and then going on to the next section, she had another hour more to go before getting out of the final part of the testing maneuvers.

She moved on, when all of a sudden someone started to shoot at her, she had to drop to the wet ground trying to figure out just where direction the shooting was coming from, but for some reason, it was only for just a few shots, and then it had ended, she couldn't see anyone for the like of her, nor for the fact, there were not schedule shooting targets in this area.

However she moved on, even if she had to think about the situation at hand, do I go on with the rest of the test, or give up?" She made the decision to be strong for her own self worth to continue on, and not look like she was too weak to be in this group in the first place."

A little bit later having stopped to pee, drink some water and a energy bar, she was good to finally finish up the course, along with eight others, while they wait of the members to come through the forest.

She was given the once over by the medical doctor Colonel Thomas Payne having been a part of the Elite group eight years, he was asked to join by Captain Jack Wilson, 42 years old, divorced. Maddie, was starting to feel a little bit nausea for some reason, until the doctor gave her a shot to help, along with some ginger ale.

3. Chapter 3

Chapter Three The Elite

Maddie was feeling better, when she saw Captain Wilson walking over to her with a grin on his face, and his hair out of place from his helmet.

"Good job Maddie, you made it through with the course, and the storm." He says with great pride within his heart and soul.

"Sir, can I asked you something, there was an incident that happened, while I was on the last run of the maneuvers, when someone started to shoot over my head, and it wasn't one of the schedule shooting targets, I checked sir, to see if there as anyone in the area, I couldn't find anyone, unless it was part of the test sir?" While taking off her helmet, and wiping away the black tar from her face, using the mirror to see what she was doing in the first place.

"Nope!, not that I would know of, unless the others decided to make it more interesting for everyone, I will have to investigate this anyway Maddie, are you all right?" He replied with concern, having gotten a report from the doctor.

"I am just fine, sir, probably just nerves, I will be going home once, everyone is done with the course, how many actually didn't make it this time around?" While tension rippled along the length of her spine.

"Three right now, their are two more that haven't finished up the course as yeat, however Maddie, you don't have to wait, are are able to have me come over later for Chinese, it will be my treat Maddie, if your too tired, I will truly understand?" He says with giving her a cute smirk to have her really interested in the first place.

"Sure Jack, see you around 11 o' clock, I will have the wine nice and cold ready, along with a few snacks to go with the Chinese food."

Meanwhile the last two of the members finally made it through with out any wear and tear on their bodies, let along their nerves.

/

Jackson Hunt when they had arrived back to their motel room, he was curious to see if he would be able to bring up the information on the Internet, while Joan was looking on behind his back lightly kissing the back of his neck.

"Jesus Joan, can you hold off for a little while, I need to check up on this group." He typed in the information with the search typing in "THE ELITE MILITARY GORILLA ORGANIZATION". The search cam eup with several choices, including the one he's looking for.

He brought up the web site showing Captain Jack Wilson and a picture of several members behind him in full gorilla warfare uniforms, along with a complete history of the organization, global members, missions, and financials and much more, along with a complete history on each of the members belonging to Captain Jack Wilson's unit located in Chicago.

"Truly remarkable Jackson, I just can't believe it." She replied cautiously and excitement at the same time.

"I am impressed, this is going to be an interesting meet never the less, I think Joan, it's going to work towards our advantage in the long run." While he beckoned Joan to continue on with kissing the back of his neck and other parts of his body.

"Are you sure Jackson this time around, unless you need to call your son Richard Castle, your been wanting to do the past few days?"

"We can do both you know, why don't you take a shower, while I go call my son, he's going to be shock when I do call him?" He sees Joan walking away to walk into the bedroom to change out of her clothes and into the shower.

While he pulled out his cell phone...

4. Chapter 4

Chapter Four The Elite

Richard Castle having just arrived home from the 12th precinct with his wife working on a strange case, has every one baffles at the moment, including his own wife, she was still at the precinct finishing up the last of her paper work, while she sent her husband to go home and wait for her.

Even though he had a book tour coming up in a week to promote "Killer Heat" and the "DEVIL'S ADVOCATE", along with the fact his P.I. business was going well with Alexis, Haley and now two new employees to help at lease with the case load.

Castle took off his jacket having to turn up the lights higher, along with the fire place to take the chill out of the room at least.

It was at this moment, when his cell phone had gone off inside his coat jacket.

When he goes to answer it, he found it to be his father's number coming up on the caller I.D.

"Castle, it's Dad, I must say, I am truly surprised to be hearing from you after the past few months, since your been on the run with Joan, what's going on that I get a phone call from my own father?" He replied with calmness.

"Richard, cut the crap, I suggest you go to your laptop, I have something to show you, I will explain further, when you bring up the following site."

"Hold on, I just got into the door, I will head for the office, for where I left my second Laptop inside as with the other one, what is the site, you want me to bring up?" Turning on the laptop, along with his password. "Ok, set, what is it Dad?"

"Type up The Elite Military Gorilla Warfare organization by Captain Jack Wilson, you will understand after that, along with your memory."

It took a moment for Castle to register the memory, for which hit him full blast into his face to truly shake him. "I wasn't sure before Dad, but I am now, Brad Pierson tried to tell me about me being with this group in Thailand, but I just wouldn't listen to him or anyone else, I was mostly trying to protect myself and Kate from Loksat and nothing more, along with the fact I had my memories being erased at the time."

"Exactly Richard, and it's why now the group has made contact with me and Joan to join in on a meeting in a few days with it's members, Captain Jack Wilson called me earlier while I was out shopping with Joan at the shopping mall, when I had gotten the call, I must say I was rather impressed with the man and the web site, if you would like to come with me to meet with Captain Wilson, no doubt he will probably remember you, despite the many members through the globe."

"I will have to think about it Dad, let alone discussing it with my wife Kate, I will let you know late this evening, either talking to you or by voicemail, I will leave a message either way."

"Fair enough, take care for now." While he ends the call. It was when the loft door opened to enter Kate Beckett taking off her coat and placing it into the closet for safe keeping.

She had a feeling her husband was either in the bedroom or his office, she checked the bedroom first to find it empty, she was able to drop out of her heels and her pulse, before heading on very to his office to find a man in a somber mood checking out something on his computer.

"Hey!, what's going on Rick, why the frown on your face?"

"You need to sit down Kate, I have something important to tell you, and your not going to like it one bit, I just had a call from my father, and what he just told me will shock you, I need to show you something, come over here please." She walks over very slowly to see something of real interest.

"Wait a minute, I have seen this before during my investigation during the time of your disappearance, isn't this the same organization, you were involved with Brad Pierson before he was killed?"

"Exactly Kate, it's why part of my memories has finally come back, my father triggered it with me bringing up that web site, now for the best part, he wants me to join him in Chicago in a few days to join the Elite group, for a very special meeting, on how it's run for the most part among other things."

He looks up at his wife.

"And what did you say to your father about it?" She was shaking inside.

"I told him, I needed to discuss the matter with you, before calling him back with my answer Kate." Feeling some what isolated for the moment, and his wife.

"I can't stop you, Rick, however you decide, please keep me in the loop for when it comes to that meeting, and whether or not, they try to recruit you once again for a mission, I am just happy, you were able to figure out the rest of your memories, just be sure to come home in one piece to me and our unborn child."

"I know Kate, I just don't want to screw that up with missing out on being a father once again, I will call my father, to let him know, I will be coming to Chicago to meet with him and this Captain Jack Wilson, would you like to stay to hear what I have to say to my father?"

"No thanks, you deal with him, I will be going into the shower to have the hot water beet down on the back of my neck and back." She was getting ready to leave, when Castle told her to wait.

"Kate, when I am done with the call, I will be sure to give you a wonderful back massage your going to love, both the back and front, to make you tingle from head to toe."

"I will be sure to hold you to it, let alone your trusting fingers to do the walking up and down my body." She walks out leaving a smiling Castle in her wake, before placing that call. When he does, the voicemail was picking up...

"Dad, this is Richard, I wanted to let you know, I will be flying out to Chicago to meet with you for that meeting The Elite members, including Captain Jack Wilson, see you soon."

5. Chapter 5

Chapter Five The Elite

This is for Mature audiences

When Hunt woke up later during the night, leaving the bed with a sleeping Joan.

He needed to check his phone in the next room for any messages, since he was busy earlier pleasuring Joan in the bed.

He was still very sore, from what she was doing to him with her mouth and other parts of her body, he was not doubt loving every minute of it any way despite the complaints.

He was able to find his cell phone on the table, for where he left it, when he goes to look at his messages, there were once voice mail, he goes to punch his pass word to hear who the message is from, it was his son Richard, telling him, he would be joining him in Chicago to meet up with Captain Jack Wilson.

"Excellent!", he says to himself. He would be calling Wilson back in the morning to let him know my son will be attending the meeting with his Elite members.

But for now, he needed to make himself something eat, he was starving for the most part, he checked the frig for the left overs from today's dinner of Chinese food, With the last of the fried rice, egg rolls and noodles.

He sits down to eat making sure not to make too much noise, however Joan woke up to find him missing from the bed, she came looking for him to be in the kitchen eating.

"There you are Jackson, I was wondering what happened to you?" She says with placing a kiss behind his neck to tickle him.

"I was checking my messages, Richard is coming to Chicago tomorrow to meet up with Captain Wilson and the meeting."

"I wonder how he was able to get away from the grips of his wife Kate Beckett?" She says in a serious tone before taking the last egg roll off the plate.

"Hey!, that was mine Joan." He says being annoyed.

"That's too bad sweetie, how about I make it up to you with another round of rough sex with you?" She sticks out her tongue at him after taking a bite out of the egg roll.

"I rather have you do that to him, and have me scream from you biting down on my shaft."

"I plan to right now." She pulls out his chair, opens up his robe and promptly went down on him hard with her mouth to make him cry out from the pain, before squeezing his balls.

/

Maddie was restless after several rounds of sex with her boyfriend Jack Wilson.

She walked into the kitchen to have a glass of iced tea she had made for dinner. Jack and herself enjoyed the meal even though it was Chinese food.

She was still thinking about the maneuvers today, and what had happened in the forest with the gun shots.

6. Chapter 6

Chapter Sixth The Elite

For Mature Audiences

She was wondering why anyone would be shooting at her, unless to make an issue with the group to cause problems.

Nothing has ever happened before in the ten years the group has been together.

She needed to talk serious with Jack about it despite, what they had done in the bedroom.

She takes a sip of her iced tea, along with a slice of bread with butter and a boiled egg, she had made a few days ago.

It was at this point, when Captain Wilson in his black boxers came out looking for her, she could never get over it, on just how well he kept his body in great shape, including his shaft to make her really happy with the size and the way, he's able to use it the right way.

"What's wrong Maddie?" Kissing the back of her neck to make her tickle a little.

"I am worried about today Jack, someone could of gotten killed including myself, something needs to be done Jack, and it's your job to find out the truth of the matter on this one, sorry!" She says before turning around to stand up to kiss his passionately, not giving him the chance to answer her question.

Catching his breath from the kiss. "I will see to it Maddie, starting tomorrow with an investigation, like you said before someone else gets killed in the crossfire."

He takes her into his arms this time around to kiss her really hard, before placing her onto the table to work his magic with his mouth on her body among other things to make her truly happy, despite their age differences, she didn't care at the moment, when his mouth went down onto her opening to drive her wild with desire, while arching her back.

She kept asking for more, and when she would say it, he would make her cry out even further from her orgasms, until he decided to enter her rather roughly with his shaft, to have her cringe at first holding her legs wrapped around his waste, having him push even further into her G spot, while breathing hard.

He continued on until, he was ready to come really hard into her with his release, to have them both moan out rather loudly from the final spasms hitting the both of them.

He dropped over her body to be totally exhausted, as with herself, she needed to catch her breath, as with himself, before pulling out of her, along with her legs off the kitchen table.

"Lets go take a shower together, we both need to be up early to check into the shooting Maddie, thank you." He says before giving one last kiss before entering into the shower and then hopefully sleep for the rest of the night.

7. Chapter 7

Chapter Seven The Elite

Castle was just about ready to leave the loft to catch his flight to Chicago, he was waiting for the car service to take him to the airport to meet up with his father and Joan.

When Beckett came out of the bedroom to kiss him good bye.

"Rick, I wish you all the best with your flight, and meeting up with your father, I just hope meeting this Captain Jack Wilson, doesn't turn into a bust for you?" She says with concern for her husband and his family.

"It's going to be interesting Kate, I will be sure to keep you updated, when I land in Chicago, please do me a favor, take good care of yourself?" Before picking up his carry on bag and laptop.

"I will walk you down Rick."

Once they were walking out of the elevator, Edurado informed Richard Castle, the car service was waiting outside for him. "Love you Rick, have a safe flight." Before kissing him quickly before going back upstairs to the Loft.

She had to get herself ready to head into the 12th precinct for a conference with all of her detectives.

She really wasn't looking forward to it at this time. Between the conference and the paper work is what was in store for her, while her husband was getting himself mixed up into something.

She had kept looking at her motorcycle in the corner, ever since her husband her restored it, she has been on it twice, each time with her husband sitting on the back, to enjoy the wind in her face.

She was thinking of taking the bike to work, and she decided to try it never the less, but first she looked for the two chains, she would use to keep it safe in the precinct garbage.

After a few moments, their was plenty of gasoline, she drag the bike out of the loft, to take it into the elevator, having to be big enough to carry it down to the street, she walked it out from the back entrance instead of the front.

Once she was ready, she started the motorcycle, to head off to the 12th precinct, she was living free for the moment.

Some time later at the 12th precinct garbage, Sergeant Esposito and inspector Sung Wung having to be arriving for their shift, was in total shock to see Captain Beckett riding a motorcycle of all things.

End
file.